

LOSING FLESH.

Are you losing flesh? If so, better consult your doctor at once. He will tell you the cause. We can provide the remedy, which is Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil.

We have known persons to gain a pound a day, by taking an ounce of the Emulsion.

A young woman in Batavia writes us she had lost twenty-five pounds in three months, and her lungs were seriously affected. She took three bottles of Scott's Emulsion and gained fifteen pounds, and was able to resume her work.

It will cure consumption in the early stages. It is a remarkable flesh producer.

CABLE IS IN SHAPE

Opens for Business on Monday Next.

FINAL TESTS ARE ALL MADE

Operation of the Line Delayed for Five Hours During the Making of Trials.

The Commercial Pacific Cable will be opened for business on Monday and there will be plenty of business for it. If the many offers of messages made yesterday are kept alive.

The final tests of the line were made by the officials of the constructing company last evening, and when the line was again opened shortly after nine o'clock, after being closed for the technical operations for a little more than five hours, it was found that everything was in good shape, and the work of clearing up the work which had accumulated was going on with rapidity.

The electrical staff of the Silvertown with the inspectors of the company came ashore early in the afternoon and at once proceeded to the cable hut at Walkiki, and promptly at 4 o'clock cut the line, by taking off the connection with the underground system so that their own testing instruments could be cut in. At once the work of making the various peculiar tests of the resistance of the line, which show the perfection not only of manufacture but as well of laying, were carried on. These are purely technical, having for their aim the finding out of the quality of the line as a conductor, and when completed showed that there was now ready for the use of the company a line which is second to none of the many lines of ocean cable which have been made and laid by the company and under the eyes of the inspecting engineers of the Commercial concern. The results of the tests were tabulated and when they had been completed the final message of Chief Engineer Henry Benest, of the expedition, was sent to the offices of the India Rubber, Gutta Percha and Telegram company, at Silvertown, London, telling the contractors of the success of the work and apprising them of its completion.

This work done the line was at once turned over to the company and its operators began the clearing up of the messages which had accumulated, for the number received during the day was in excess of the capacity of the wire and men as well. There were messages from both ends to be handled and there was no way in which to tell just how many congratulatory and service wires were to be sent, and it was not until late in the night that the work was cleared up.

There will be no paid business accepted by the company as yet as the work of getting the various branches of the service into shape will occupy the full attention of the local officials of the operating company for the two days, and there will be plenty of work to do at that. There will be some hard work too in the way of getting the local office into complete touch with the mainland headquarters, and when this is done there will be such a system that Honolulu will find it working with the most perfect ease and accomplishing all that could be expected of it.

While it is true that the line will be in charge of the contractors for a month before it is to be accepted by the Commercial company, it will continue to be operated by their officials here, and will be used only for the purposes of tests by the electricians of the constructing company, those being carried on in such a way as to give complete data as to the character of the system.

COAST FOLK SEND GREETING

The business houses of Honolulu had their first taste of instant communication yesterday and hardly one but received from the branches on the Coast or from the agents there, a message which told of the satisfaction that was felt over the change in the methods of carrying intelligence.

The sugar houses received no news in the strict sense, but they had instant knowledge that their friends were thinking of them and the possibilities. The messages were formal and were sent through the courtesy of the company, which notified the various agencies there that the wire would be at the disposal of the future patrons, for the purpose of sending the commitments of the season to local houses.

The Metropolitan Meat Company was one of the first to receive such a series of messages, Col. George McLeod, the San Francisco agent of the concern, sending the initial one, and others coming from patrons and those with whom the concern does business. All wished a happy new year and a prosperous one.

The Advertiser received many of these messages, which are given elsewhere. One of the most important in its effect upon the future of the paper in its relations to its readers, was the following from the Pacific Coast agent of the Associated Press. It reads as follows:

"This looks good to newspaper men. 'Cowles'."

Mr. Paul Cowles, is the Pacific Coast manager of the Associated Press. He visited Honolulu as a correspondent in 1893.

MEETING OF THE KINDERGARTEN

The Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association held its January meeting yesterday. Interesting reports were given of the Christmas celebrations in the six kindergartens of Honolulu.

Notwithstanding hard times their friends gave liberally towards a "Merrie Christmas" for the 300 children, donations of money equalling those of previous years. Teachers and assistants worked hard for weeks and the children added their best endeavors. In some of the kindergartens the children made Christmas presents to their parents of kodak photographs of themselves, which the teachers took and the children themselves framed.

The practicability of adding to the Normal School a kindergarten department as an experiment school was considered and referred to the publication committee. The first step must be a bill in the Legislature and the association asks the assistance of all members who believe in kindergartens as a most helpful, we would say saving, element in this cosmopolitan territory.

The Castle-Home reported that four more children are about to be admitted. This will make a household of eighteen little children who greatly need this happy home. We regret that its funds are in rather a stringent condition which we ask all interested to help relieve.

JAP AGENCIES OF EMIGRATION

The actual regulation for the Hawaiian emigrants agencies restricts the maximum number of emigrants for Hawaii to 45 each steamer under the management of any emigrants agencies paying Government at least the sum of 30,000 yen as security money no matter what may be their relative importance. The enforcement of this regulation has, however, now shown the inconvenient feature of constant increase of minor agencies which are of course to enjoy altogether the same rights as the larger agencies on deposit of the aforesaid security money. Besides, the most of the minor agencies do not actually deal with the sending-out of emigrants to Hawaii but sell the right to the larger agencies and they secure in this manner a certain amount of profit. As it is now considered to be far safer to entrust the sending of emigrants to creditable agencies with ample capital, the Government seems to have felt the necessity of revising the regulation so as to gradually bring about the suppression of minor agencies. The new revised regulation is to fix the number of emigrants by the amount of security money. Considering the importance of various agencies under this new regulation, it is generally believed that Messrs. Kaigai Tokokai-sha will be able to ship 80 emigrants by each steamer, Messrs. Morioka and Company 64, the Kumamoto Emigrants Company 50 and other agencies probably 8 in an average while agencies of less importance are only allowed to carry each time 16. We learn that the revised regulation will be enforced on and after the 1st January, 1903.—Japan Times.

The police station was a quiet place all day yesterday. High Sheriff Brown, Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth and a corps of police officers were on duty at the Capitol both afternoon and night.

WAHIAWA IN HOLIDAY TIME

Editor Advertiser: Wahiawa has certainly not been napping during these holidays, and some absent friends like to read good words from "the colony" at all times. Our festivities began with a very sweet little entertainment given by the children of the school and Sunday school under the direction of the teacher, Miss Edna Bevans. A beautiful program of songs and recitations was carried out. This was followed by a tree, with a jolly old St. Nicholas to distribute the many pretty gifts which were made by the children of the school. One of the prettiest features of the program was the telling of the story of the birth of Jesus, by the children, as it is told in the Bible. The Chinese of the colony were present by invitation, and Mrs. Thwing told the story in their own language for their benefit. Each one present was remembered with a bag of "goodies." Another pleasant feature of the evening was the little surprise prepared by some of the children for their teacher, Miss Bevans, in the gift of a beautiful Hawaiian pin; it was an expression of their appreciation of her unselfish work for them in their school club, and social life. The evening was full of the true Christmas spirit, and all went away happier.

Wahiawa has a number of visitors from the metropolis—among them Mr. Henry, the guest of Mrs. Thwing. Mrs. Kinney, the guest of Miss Bevans at the residence of Mrs. Rhodes. Kirkby Tucker at Mr. Tracy's. Miss Anna Tucker, the guest of Miss Helen Eames. Miss May Paty and Miss E. Bicknell, guests of the Misses Clark, and others. All enjoy the bracing air of these higher altitudes.

The holiday week wound up with a New Year's eve entertainment given by the Wahiawa Dramatic Club at the home of Mrs. Rhodes. It was greatly enjoyed by all; afterwards the company adjourned to the assembly hall where the young people danced the "old year out" and the "new year in," hailing the dawn of the new year with bells and bonfires.

So much for the "festive" side of the colonists. Meantime every one is hard at work with plow and hoe; improvements are in progress. Mr. Kellogg's large new house is almost ready for occupancy. The Hawaiian Pineapple Company is erecting buildings for their cannery. We are progressing surely if slowly.

Hawaiian Japanese Annual.

The Hawaii Shippo, the clever Japanese newspaper edited by Mr. Shiozawa, has just issued its Hawaiian-Japanese Annual for 1903, many copies of which will be circulated all over Japan, and will undoubtedly give the Islands a great amount of advertising there. The annual is printed in Japanese, contains much descriptive matter concerning the Islands, their industries and the social and commercial status of Japanese here, while there are many illustrations of Island scenes and of well known Japanese in Hawaii.

"O Luso's" New Year Number.

"O Luso," Hawaii's progressive Portuguese newspaper, has just issued a cleverly got up annual number. Editor J. S. Ramos has filled an eight-page paper with many fine illustrations and a large amount of reading matter, all well printed on a fine grade of paper. Pictures are given of many of the prominent Portuguese of this Territory and the first page of the production is adorned by a picture of King Don Carlos of Portugal. The edition is printed in the Portuguese language.

At the Peterson cottage on Tantalus on New Year's eve a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Mallin at which the engagement of Miss Eunice Midrum Clark, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Clark of Portland, Me., and Frederick Van Antwerp Berger was announced.

HONOLULU CELEBRATES

of telegraphic communication with your distant island territory. May it be the forerunner of an uninterrupted patriotic and commercial community of interests between your people and those of the parent country.

T. T. GEER, Governor of Oregon.

Olympia, Jan. 1, 1903.

Hon. Sanford Dole, Governor, Honolulu. On behalf of the people of the State of Washington I send greetings. The distance between us has been overcome. You are now a part of us in fact as well as in name.

HENRY M'BRIDE, Governor of Washington.

San Francisco, Jan. 1, 1903.

Hon. Sanford B. Dole, Governor of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Aloha. California and Hawaii, first friends, now neighbors, hereafter kinsmen. The golden state's new administration welcomes the tie that binds us even closer. Our cable latching is now in your hands and our doors are open to the people of Hawaii.

GEORGE C. PARDEE, Governor-elect.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 1, 1903.

Hon. Sanford B. Dole, Governor of Hawaii, Honolulu.

The Chamber of Commerce of San Diego, California, sends greetings and best wishes for the new year which is so full of promise for Hawaii, whose isolation is now a thing of the past, thanks to the enterprise of John W. Mackay, to whose name and noble life the trans-Pacific cable will be a lasting monument.

H. P. WOOD, Secretary.

San Francisco, Jan. 1, 1903.

Hon. Sanford B. Dole, Governor Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu.

The Board of Trade of San Francisco on behalf of its two hundred members and by the courtesy of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, heartily congratulates the people of the Hawaiian Islands upon the successful laying of the first great line of the electric chain which will unite the Occident with the Orient, through the Paradise of the Pacific. We join in the felicitations over the momentous event and believe the cable will be an important factor in the commercial and industrial success and prosperity of Hawaii. May it bind us forever in friendly and business ties.

R. R. WATKINS, President.

As Secretary Cooper read the last message from Clarence W. Mackay, Mr. Eustis arose, and in a voice every part of the embowered space in front of the stand, said:

EUSTIS AS A PROPHET.

"I want to make a prediction. I'm not much of a prophet, but I will predict that when you dedicate your new public building, that you will receive a message from the President of Mars, a message from the governor of Jupiter and one from the mayor of Saturn. (Laughter and applause.) Why, it was only twenty-five years before Captain Cook landed on these Islands that Benjamin Franklin was out with a kite and a key tied to the string trying to fetch something from the storm clouds. He waited and waited, and finally a shiver came down the line like the raising of the hair on a cat's back. He says, 'She is coming,' and she came. I remember in my life of going to the funeral of Morse, the great inventor, and today you have the fruits of Mackay, the enterprising man, the man of action. Today you see the cars on the streets roll by with electricity propelling them; you bake your bread with electricity; you talk thousands of miles on wires; you have the X-rays and can read a man's thoughts, and the girls can see his heart beat. (Laughter.)"

"I want to express my thanks to the business men of Honolulu. They are among the best I have ever met, full of enterprise and push. You have made my life very pleasant during my stay. I don't know where else you can find business men so full of enterprise. I went to your theatre the other evening and saw a production by local talent, and it was surprisingly good. And so it is in all things here—you have to rely upon yourselves and it develops a high type of manhood and womanhood. The beautiful women of Honolulu, God bless them! I believe I know them all. Your business men and they have made my task easy. Why, I have stood on your street corners perhaps half of my time, just to watch the pretty girls go by."

"It is not the hand that lays the cable, but the hand that rocks the cradle that rules the world." (Laughter and applause.)

With music from the band, the great assemblage dispersed.

FAMOUS FLAG RAISED.

The big, handsome thirty-foot United States flag which floated over the capitol building yesterday in honor of the celebration was the same one which has become famous in American-Hawaiian history. It was the flag which was raised with so much ceremony on Flag Raising Day, August 12, 1898, when the Hawaiian Islands were formally taken over by the United States by Admiral Miller, U. S. N. Just after the Hawaiian standard had been lowered from the same staff. Last evening at sunset a national salute was fired by the Capitol battery in its honor when it was lowered for the day.

THE FIREWORKS DISPLAY.

The fireworks display in the Capitol grounds last evening attracted thousands of people there who filled the driveways and occupied all the lawn space about the stand. The detonation of the mortars, with the resulting explosions in mid-air, were impressive, and old and young alike gazed at the pyrotechnics for more than an hour. The report from the mortars at times was deafening, but the choirs of music to the right-seers. Chorus of "Ahs" followed each ascending and exploding piece. Writhing snakes, showers of sparks, fire balloons and rockets formed a pleasing sky picture. One bomb exploded in the trees, but no one was hurt.
